

Iurea, Bibl.
Capitolare,
Ms. LXXXVII/54
(Hieronymus,
Antea Iovinianum
vsa),
fol. 61^a.

Ad caliginē oculorū

VRATI

talis est:

Recipe la

pidemca

luminare quā

greci calmiā

dicunt: Ipsum

lapidē infocum

mitte & coq: per

duos dies & noctes

& calidū in aceto

extingue. Iterū

in ignem mitte

ut bene candescat

& iterū in aceto ex

tingue usq: dum

pallius fiat. de ip

so puluere trico

cinato plinteum

ūn. ii. Cimino.

Nuri pīntū.

Piper. Bacas Lau.

ri. Caustū. Cma

mū. Gario folū.

Gingiberana scrib. v.

Haec omnia in pulue

rē cōmiscis plinteū

tricocinas. ipsum

puluerē in oculos

mitte sine dubio sinit. Ad dolo

Rem illi:

Rixoriū in ignē

mitte & tādū

calefacusq: dubene

calore candescat eo

ab igne abstracto

bonū purūq: super

illud mitat unū. Ac

sic in eo calefactū in

nū fruxorio ab egro

to unū hauriri possit

salute. siq: puocato

ilico uomit adolore

liberabitur eger.

Fig. 11 – Ivrea, Biblioteca Capitolare, ms. LXXXVII/54, Girolamo, Adversus Iovinianum; scomunica contro Arduino; Physica Plinii, etc., f. 119v.