THE SKELLIGS, BALLINSKELLIGS BAY: About nine miles from Bolus Head and at the mouth of Ballinskelligs Bay are, the Skelligs Rocks. The Great Skellig is a massive Rock rising over 700 feet over the Atlantic. Here early Christians built a monastic settlement near the summit of the rock reached by a stone stairway. The stairway and the remains of the settlement have existed for over 1,000 years. The Little Skellig is a bird sanctuary and is the most southerly breeding ground for a colony of gannets.
