

210); Milada STUDNIČKOVÁ, The material recycling of the antiphonary of Vorau (S. 211–216); Julia DROBINSKY, Recyclage et création dans l'iconographie de Guillaume de Machaut (quatorzième-quinzième siècles) (S. 217–224); Herman Th. COLENBRANDER: Scripta manent. Jacquemart de Hodin, painter from Mons? (S. 225–233); Albert CHÂTELET, La vision de l'antiquité de Jacques Coene (S. 235–239); Lieve WATTEUW, ... Pour avoir nettoyé et relyé ij grans livres appartenant à Monseigneur... Documentation concerning the fifteenth-century care of manuscripts in the Burgundian library (S. 241–251); Andreas BRÄM, Zum adaptierten Stifterbild in der spätmittelalterlichen Buchmalerei (S. 253–261); Michael T. ORR, Tradition and innovation in the cycles of miniatures accompanying the hours of the Virgin in early fifteenth-century english books of hours (S. 263–270); Saskia VAN BERGEN, The production of flemish books of hours for the english market: standardization and workshop practices (S. 271–283); Katharina SMEYERS, Iconographic cycles in Légendes dorées (fourteenth-fifteenth century): constants and variables. A case study: Arundel (West Sussex), Collection of the duke of Norfolk (S. 285–290); Margriet HÜLSMANN, Variation in page layout in dutch books of hours as evidence for localization: developing a method for qualitative and quantitative research (S. 291–299); Frédérique JOHAN, Un exemple de réemploi stylistique et pictural emprunté au «Maître de Wavrin»: Le petit Jehan de Saintré (S. 301–307); Jacques Charles LEMAIRE, Le manuscrit Paris, Bibliothèque nationale de France, ms. fr. 12601 est-il sorti de l'atelier du Maître de Wavrin? (S. 309–315); Anne DUBOIS, Interpénétration des manuscrits et des incunables. L'exemple de Lyon et du Chantilly, Musée Condé, ms. 833–834 (S. 317–323); Pierre HAMBLENNE, Quelques manuscrits de Bethléem (Herent) (S. 325–334); Elizabeth L'ESTRANGE, Anna Peperit Mariam, Elizabeth Johannem, Maria Christum: images of childbirth in late-medieval manuscripts (S. 335–346); Mark EVANS, The politicized page: the Sforza succession and humanist book decoration in Milan (S. 347–355); Thomas KREN, The importance of patterns in the emergence of a new style of flemish manuscript illumination after 1470 (S. 357–377); Anne Margreet W. AS-VIJVERS, Recycling the Huth hours: the master of the David scenes and the making of the Brukenthal breviary, or: the Ghent associates and the contribution of Simon Marmion to Ghent-Bruges manuscript painting (S. 379–390); Gregory T. CLARK, Beyond Jacquemart Pilavaine, Simon Marmion, and the master of Antoine Rolin: book painting in the Hainaut in the penultimate decade of the fifteenth century (S. 391–398); Diane G. SCILLIA, Composing the «raising of Lazarus», ca. 1495 (S. 399–405); Anne-Marie LEGARÉ, Du nouveau sur l'enluminure en Hainaut à la fin du moyen âge. L'antiphonaire de l'Abbaye de Forest (Westmalle, Abbaye des trappistes, ms. 9) (S. 407–417); Annemarieke WILLEMSSEN, The game of the month. Playful calendars in Ghent-Bruges books of hours (S. 419–430); Anja GREBE, Transgressing the borders: the fortunes of flemish book illumination in southern Germany after 1500 (S. 431–439); Helena SZÉPE, Distinguished among equals: repetition and innovation in venetian Commissioni (S. 441–447). A. M.-R.

Un nuovo testimone delle Homiliae in Hiezechihalem. Il palinsesto Riccardiano 1221/2 (Ilias Latina). Ricostruzione ed edizione a cura di Teresa DE ROBERTIS. Riproduzioni e CD-ROM di Giovanni MARTELLUCCI con una