

Handwritten Latin text in Carolingian minuscule script, featuring extensive neumes (musical notation) above the text. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the page. The script is dense and characteristic of the 9th century. The neumes are written in a stylized, flowing manner, typical of the period.

At the bottom left, there is a decorative initial 'K' with a cross-like design, followed by the text 'KAROLVS SEPTIMVS REX'. To the right of this, the text continues with 'SICUTUM NOSTRUM' and other phrases. The bottom right corner features a circular seal or stamp, which appears to be a papal bull or a similar official document, with a central figure and surrounding text.
