

and outlines the thesis that these speeches acquired a special didactic character due to the problems of the great occidental schism.