PARIS, BIBL. NAT. NOUV. ACQ. LAT. 2699 (foll. A, 1-3, 82-85).

EARLY CAROLINE MINUSCULE SAEC. VIII-IX.

MAXIMI TAURINENSIS HOMILIAE (fragm.).

Four leaves, with their margins and a little of the text cut now separately mounted; formerly used as fly leaves to lat. 2699 off, folded in two as if they were bifolia (in the whole MS. which is lat. 2699, foll. 85; foll. 4-81 are Augustine and Ambrosius saec. XII); each leaf now measures 255 x 220 mm. <calculated ca. 265 x

 ca. 220 mm.> probably in 35 long lines (32 are left).

Ruling several bifolia at a time. Single bounding lines separate the columns. Punctuation: the medial point for lesser pauses, the semicolon for more important stops. Abbreviations limited to Nomina Sacra and b; and q; = bus, que; ^e and ² = est;

 (1^v) (4) (1) (1) showing Visigothic influence) = ouius, lus, mus, sus; n = non; nr, nr1 = noster, nostri; p = pro; u once for
 'ter' but twice 'tur' (foll. 83, 83v); ma is found for 'misericordia'. Omitted m in mid-line is marked by a horizontal stroke over the vowel. Spelling: scarioth, scarioth, sagrilegis; tia, cannot find that at all instead of cia, cio. Part of a great initial geometrically drawn with plait motif and a touch of brick red remains.

Small initials with a dot inside occur (fol. 2). Script is a careful minuscule with few ligatures: 8-shaped e in ligature, cup-shaped suprascript y in 'tur' are frequent; both œ and a (the latter rare), ſ and d are used; ^{g occurs (24, 4v)} a thick dot or triangle at the attack point of each letter. Marginalia in a very in-expert trembling minuscule hand on foll. 83v-84.

Written probably at Limoges (cf. MS. I. 67 fol. 111).

A St. Martial of Limoges MS., of the entry of lat. 2699 hand: 'Lemov. 125', and the old Regius numbers XLVI and 4321.2.
