

INTRODUCTION, p. 71
CORBIE, p. 9

and second because it seems incredible that this curious artificial type could have survived into the second decade of the ninth century when nearly everyone around was writing Caroline. But in any event the inscription shows that this type of script was connected in the memory of later monks with the well-known Abbot Adalhard. The following is a full list of ut manuscripts known to date:

1. Bamberg, Staatl. Bibl., Bibl. 52 (B.III.4) (fol. 1). Cassianus, Collationes.
2. Berlin, Öffentl. Wiss. Bibl. Hamilton 132. Canones Conciliorum.
3. Bordeaux, Bibl. de la Ville 28 + Paris, Lat. 17451 (foll. 1-8)

9
1 1/2 lines
smaller type
+
indent